

Evans plots a Welsh defeat

By ALASDAIR ROSS

WYCOMBE go Welsh this Saturday—and that suits Wanderers striker Dylan Evans and midfield man Geoff Anthony.

Key players in the Rothman's Isthmian League side, they return to their native Wales for a second-round tie against Cardiff at Ninian Park.

Keen

Llanelli-born Evans, a Welsh amateur international, scored the goal which beat Bedford in the first round.

"I'm a true Welsh lad," says 26-year-old Dylan. "But I won't worry about that. Some relatives will be watching so I'll be keen to put one over on Cardiff."

Anthony, though, has an even better reason for success. He spent a year with Cardiff as an amateur when Jimmy Scouler was manager.

"This game means everything to me," smiles

Geoff. "I have nothing to prove, but I'm sure we can win. We are skilful and can match them for fitness."

Wycombe proved that last season as they shocked Middlesbrough in the third round by earning a goal-less draw at home before slipping out to a late, lone goal at Ayresome Park.

Boost

Manager Brian Lee, however, has no illusions. He says: "We are not as good a side as last season. We have lost four players, but I'll be delighted if we can play as well as I know we can."

"Cardiff know all about us. Last season Middlesbrough were in the dark and that boosted our chances."
